Q & A WITH THE MANAGING PARTNER

Q. How would you describe your firm culture?

A. Campbell Campbell Edwards & Conroy is dedicated to the litigation of high stakes cases throughout the United States. Our attorneys provide clients with high quality, personalized, cost-effective litigation services designed to achieve an efficient and favorable resolution of their disputes. Many of our lawyers hold or have held leadership positions in local and national bar associations; regularly present educational programs to practicing attorneys, clients and the general public; and contribute to professional publications.

Q. What sets your firm apart from the rest?

A. At a time when the number of experienced trial lawyers has declined dramatically and many firms are struggling to find ways to train young trial lawyers and hone the skills of their partners, Campbell Trial Lawyers continues to try cases regularly. In 2005 we tried 23 cases in 18 state and federal courts located in nine states, resulting in 13 verdicts. The American College of Trial Lawyers has acknowledged the exceptional skill and highest standards of ethical conduct demonstrated by the firm's attorneys, naming four of them Fellows of the College.

Q&A

Q. How would you describe your firm culture?

A. We remain small enough to have a close-knit feeling around the office. Everyone on the professional and support staff is on a first-name basis. We enjoy one another's company, and we pull in the same direction. At the same time, everyone knows that our work is serious and the overriding goal is the excellent representation of our clients.

Q. What sets your firm apart from the rest?

A. A combination of professional and personal satisfaction. We expect and operate at the highest level of professional skill and attention to detail, while enjoying our interpersonal relationships within the firm. This is evidenced by the tenure of many employees who have been with Conn Kavanaugh since we opened our doors in September 1988, and the reputation we've developed since that time.

Q. How will your firm change in the next decade?

A. We expect to continue to grow at a measured pace building on our existing successful practices and we'll look for growth opportunities in budding areas that have synergy with our current expertise. We'd like to add to the diversity among our personnel, as well as the diversity of our practice, without losing sight of what we currently do best.

Q&A

Q. What sets your firm apart from the rest?

A. We provide prompt, practical and effective legal advice free of outdated notions of how a law firm should operate. By decreasing the traditional emphasis on billable time, eliminating rigid departmental boundaries and employing cutting-edge technology, we deliver superior service consistent with our belief that with the right attitude, talent and commitment we can get to know our clients, develop a deep understanding of how to help them meet their goals and thus make a meaningful difference. Our structure allows us to form nimble, collaborative teams of lawyers who share their expertise across practice areas, giving clients firm-wide support for all of their legal needs.

Q&A

Q. How would you describe your firm culture?

A. A team of hard-working and highly focused professionals. A progressive-minded firm with a strong emphasis on integrity, mutual respect and a healthy work/life balance.

Q. What sets your firm apart from the rest?

A. Our relentless commitment to client service: combining intellectual firepower with a focus on business results. For us, practicing law is not an academic exercise, but rather to ensure that the client's desired result is achieved in the context of what is often a very tough business environment.

Q. How will your firm change in the next decade?

A. Maintain our commitment to staying independent in the face of the trend toward mega-firms. Continue to service our longtime client base, while attracting new clients who feel underserved by the changing face of larger firms, which no longer provide the kind of senior level, personalized service businesses demand.

IF NOT FOR THE CONFIDENTIAL NATURE OF WHAT WE DO, YOU'D HEAR ABOUT SUCCESS STORIES ALL THE TIME.

Lawyers are as vulnerable to personal and professional problems as anyone else. Competition, constant stress, long hours and high expectations can wear down even the most competent and energetic lawyer. This can lead to depression, stress, career problems, relationship issues, financial problems, or alcohol and substance abuse.

If you have a personal or professional problem, we can help. We are Lawyers Concerned for Lawyers, part of a national system of Lawyer Assistance Programs specializing in assisting only members of the legal profession.

We have been a valuable resource for thousands of lawyers, judges, and law students for over 25 years.

Absolute confidentiality and highly professional service is our promise.

If an issue in your life is beginning to cause problems, or if you know someone else confronting difficulties, we can be an important and confidential first step in turning a problem into an opportunity for positive change.

Your story will always be safe with us. Don't wait for a problem to become a bigger problem.

We're here for you. Visit www.lclma.org, call 1-800-LCL-0210 or email lclma.org.

We can help. But only if you get in touch with us.

Q&A

Q. How would you describe your firm culture?

A. In addition to our reputation as one of the most-respected litigation boutiques in Boston, we are also known as one of the city's most collegial law firms. We pride ourselves on our long history of successful results and a culture that has stayed true to the idea that excellence is achieved not only through individual intellect and hard work, but also through collaboration and team work.

Q. What sets your firm apart from the rest?

A. Since 1929, we have focused on what we do best — civil trials and appeals. Our size, focus and history give us a distinctive character that has enabled us to attract some of the best lawyers in the United States and offer clients an exceptional level of creativity, accessibility and responsiveness.

Q. How will your firm change in the next decade?

A. One of the advantages of being a small firm is our ability to be flexible and focus on the business needs of our clients. In the coming years, we will continue to enhance our service areas by bringing in attorneys who are recognized experts in their fields, and use technology to meet our clients' objectives faster, better and more efficiently.

Q&A

Q. How would you describe your firm culture?

A. A recent Boston Business Journal article described us as seeking to "create the Ben & Jerry's of law firms." Our firm is fast-paced, results-oriented and very entrepreneurial. We put people first, and seek the right team members who can help us grow and expand. We expect the best from our associates and in turn provide an environment in which they are challenged professionally and are rewarded for their success. We encourage greatness — and have fun along the way.

Q. What sets your firm apart from the rest?

A. Our expansion has been fueled by growing a practice internally. We have opened new offices as clients need and request them, rather than growing by purchasing other practices or books of business. We have a passion for entrepreneurialism and excellence, and are constantly refining new and dynamic markets. We have established a presence, for example, in the field of entertainment. We attended the recent Grammys in LA and we are working on key projects in the entertainment industry. Locally, we serve as lead counsel to the Boating Television Network, which is launching national and international programs.

Q. How will your firm change in the next decade?

A. We have created a Management Committee to help steer the firm's continued growth. Overall, we will continue to empower our associates. We will develop new areas of specialization. We plan to open additional locations in Europe and India, and will explore other areas as well. We will take Gibson & Behman from a national presence to an international one.

KW

KEEGAN WERLIN LLP

Q&A

Q. How would you describe your firm culture?

A. Keegan Werlin prides itself in fostering a collegial and professional atmosphere for our attorneys and support staff. The firm is committed to combining flexibility and a relaxed environment within the workplace with a total commitment to our clients. In turn, that allows us to retain and attract top-flight attorneys while KW's ability to serve its clients' objectives is enhanced.

Q. What sets your firm apart from the rest?

A. The attorneys at KW possess a wealth of practical experiences from their backgrounds in government and the private sector. That experience enables us to balance the complicated legal, regulatory, political and financial considerations that are central to our clients' objectives. We take great pride in providing timely, cost-effective and responsive legal services to our clients. As the exclusive Massachusetts member of the State Capital Global Law Firm Group, we also have the ability to respond to clients' requests on a national and international basis.

Q. How will your firm change in the next decade?

A. Standing still is not an option. We are committed to change as the needs of our clients evolve. For example, we intend to continue to invest in new technology and to incorporate that technology into client services. We also plan to expand into new practice areas as our clients' needs expand.

Q&A

Q. What sets your firm apart from the rest?

A. Dwyer & Collora is a litigation firm that represents corporate and individual clients in complex business and white-collar criminal cases. Our first commitment is to our clients. We dedicate ourselves to serving as their allies, advocates and defenders. Our service begins with assessing each client's needs and helping set each client's goals. We tailor investigative strategies to meet those objectives. Our lawyers have tenacity, creativity and versatility to fight the most challenging battles and resolve the most complex disputes. Our greatest strengths are the energy, expertise and commitment of our lawyers and staff. We combine extensive and diverse experiences, knowledge and talents for the benefit of our clients.

Q&A

Q. How would you describe your firm culture?

A. We strive to create an environment that fosters the growth of our attorneys. We welcome new ideas and encourage our attorneys to pursue their own practice interests.

Q. What sets your firm apart from the rest?

A. Keches & Mallen is one of the largest plaintiffs' personal injury law firms in Massachusetts. Our attorneys have a wide range of knowledge and experience in all areas of personal injury, and with offices in Taunton, Boston, Worcester, New Bedford and Fall River, we have the capabilities to assist injured people all across the state.

Q. How will your firm change in the next decade?

A. We have a 20-year track record of success because of our willingness to change with the times, and to be creative in the management of our business and the representation of our clients. We will continue to use our resources, including continued education and new technologies, to obtain the best results that we can for our clients.
